Noggle, Harrisburg, and Dr. Herman Van Horn. Schultz was chosen as the blood donor.

MATSUOKA TO VISIT IN BERLIN IN NEAR FUTURE

Official Announcement Says Jap Foreign Minister Will Go to Germany For Personal Deliberation on All Questions of Collaboration

EXPECTED IN ROME

Berlin, March 8.—(P)—An official announcement said today that Japanese Foreign Minister Yosuke Matsuoka is coming to Berlin shortly on the invitation of the German government. The announcement did not give the date of Matsuoka's expected arrival. (Dispatches from Tokyo today reported Maj. Gen. Eugen Ott, German ambassador to Japan, had departed alone for a brief visit to Berlin.) The official announcement said Matsuoka's visit was for "personal deliberations on all questions arising from collaboration as set forth in the three powers pact between Germany, Italy and Japan." Following the Berlin talks the Japanese foreign minister is going to Rome. The German High Command reported a Nazi submarine and German speedboats had sunk two British destroyers and 11 armed merchantmen. (Turn to Page Nine)

BUTLER COUNTY HAS SHOOTING

Butler, March 8.—(P)—Sebastian Niemiec, 64, of suburban Lyndora, died today in a Butler hospital of self-inflicted bullet wounds after shooting a neighbor. State Motor Patrolman A. L. Knudson reported. Knudson said Niemiec, a widower, went to the home of Carl Jurysta in Lyndora last night and invited Jurysta's mother, Mrs. Rose Bonos, 52, of Lyndora, to accompany him to the movies. Mrs. Bonos refused. Niemiec returned several hours later, Knudson added, entered the Jurysta home and shot Mrs. Bonos in the back as she lay on a bed playing with a grandchild. (Turn to Page Nine)

Skidmore is Found Guilty of Evasion

Chicago, March 8.—(P)—A federal court jury today convicted William R. Skidmore, accused by the government of selling protection to bootleggers, of evading $295,648 in taxes on his 1938 income. The jury deliberated since 1:38 p. m. yesterday. Maximum penalty on this indictment would be five years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine. Foreman Alfred H. McGregor told Judge Philip L. Sullivan he did not believe agreement could be reached on the older indictment which charged Skidmore, junkyard operator and country squire, with evading $210,117 in taxes on his 1937 income. The court instructed the jurors to continue their deliberations.

SHUTDOWNS IN BIG INDUSTRIES MAY BE AVERTED

By the Associated Press
Progress was reported today toward heading off threatened shutdowns in two large New Jersey industries, and an agreement between a power company and its union employees virtually had dissipated the menace of an electrical blackout in southern Michigan. The two New Jersey firms, both with large defense contracts, were the Aluminum Company of America plant at Edgewater, and the Thomas A. Edison, Inc. industries, with three plants in the state and one in Pennsylvania. CIO employees of the Aluminum company empowered their leaders to call a strike unless the company meets wage demands, but union president Vincent McKenna declared "the strike will not be called unless our demands are flatly refused." Spokesmen for the Edison company and the CIO Electrical, Radio and Machine Workers reported "progress" last night after a conference on the union's demands for a closed shop, wage increases, and overtime pay for Saturday and Sunday work. The threatened strike against the Consumers Power Company, which serves 2,000,000 southern Michigan residents, appeared definitely headed off as AFL electrical workers began balloting on ratification of an agreement calling for a wage increase and a preferential tariff on the company's demands for a closed shop, wage increases, and overtime pay for Saturday and Sunday work. BILLS AIMED TO CHANGE RELIEF SETUP IN STATE

Over Fifty Measures Introduced in Both Branches Of Legislature Are For Purpose of Revising Present Laws and Regulations

ALL IN COMMITTEE

BY JOHN CAMPBELL
Harrisburg, March 8.—(P)—Revision of Pennsylvania's relief setup—chiefly with the idea of increasing its responsibilities—is the target of more than 50 bills introduced in both branches of the legislature. Among the proposals are measures providing $60 a month for persons over 60 years of age; repealing the "work-for-relief" law; and striking out the section which says relief families with young children must buy milk from their grants. Most of the bills, relief officials said, would result only in increasing expenditures—which reached $208,000,000 during the last two years—with possible loss of federal aid. For the coming biennium Governor James recommended $121,000,000 for relief. Democrats immediately said this would be insufficient. (Turn to Page Nine)

JAMES IS NAMED COMMERCE HEAD

Harrisburg, March 8.—(P)—Mark S. James, deputy secretary of commerce since 1939, became acting head of the department today, succeeding Richard P. Brown, who resigned after a dispute with Governor Robert W. White theorized they died of poisoning. He said there was no evidence of suicide and that their deaths apparently were caused by something they had eaten or drunk prior to entering the cabin. State Motor Policemen James E. Kane and T. B. Wise said the couple had been tentatively identified from papers found in their neatly folded clothing as Josephine Royer, about 42, and Charles E. Stutler, about 36, both of Lewistown. The policemen said Richard Y. Cargill, proprietor of the camp, told them this story: The two drank at the establishment's bar Thursday night. Later the man asked for a cabin for himself and his wife. The man said he had to be at work in a Lewistown rayon mill early in the morning. It was not until last night that a waitress noticed the couple's car still in the yard. Cargill investigated and found the cabin door locked. Looking through a window, he saw the bodies. Then he called the state police. (Turn to Page Nine)

BLIZZARD BLANKETS SEABOARD

Heaviest Snow in Years Strikes Eastern Section Of Country From Virginia to Maine, in Some Places Piling Up 16 Inches Deep to Equal Great Fall of the Famous March 10 Storm of 1888; Four Deaths Recorded

TRAFFIC IS HALTED IN PENN'A DISTRICTS

By the Associated Press
The heaviest snowstorm in years today blanketed the Atlantic seaboard from Virginia to Maine, in some places piling up as much as 16 inches of wet fluff to equal the great snowfall of the famous March 10 blizzard of 1888. Delaware, New Jersey, eastern Pennsylvania and southern New York bore the brunt of the fall, where maximum depths of 14 to 16 inches were recorded. From this point the snow tapered off with lighter deposits in the Virginia, North Carolina and the main coastal areas. Travel by land, sea and air was impeded and no respite was in sight for more than 24 hours. The weather bureau forecast light snow in the New York area, continuing tomorrow. At least four deaths were attributed to the storm up to 11 a. m. (EST) today. A man in Maryland died in a skidding automobile. A man in New Jersey was killed in a traffic collision. In New York City one man was fatally injured and his wife hurt when, blinded by the storm, they walked into the path of an automobile. In upstate New York a man died when he jumped from a skidding car. (Turn to Page Nine)

PROBE DEATHS OF COUPLE IN TOURIST CABIN

Lewistown, March 8.—(P)—An autopsy was ordered today to determine the cause of death of a man and woman found nude in a tourist cabin five miles south of here. When the bodies were discovered by the camp operator last night, the faces of both were contorted as if in agony, and Mifflin county Coroner Robert W. White theorized they died of poisoning. He said there was no evidence of suicide and that their deaths apparently were caused by something they had eaten or drunk prior to entering the cabin. State Motor Policemen James E. Kane and T. B. Wise said the couple had been tentatively identified from papers found in their neatly folded clothing as Josephine Royer, about 42, and Charles E. Stutler, about 36, both of Lewistown. The policemen said Richard Y. Cargill, proprietor of the camp, told them this story: The two drank at the establishment's bar Thursday night. Later the man asked for a cabin for himself and his wife. DELWARE BLUE LAW IS REPEALED

Wilmington, Del., March 8.—(P)—Adoption of a bill repealing Delaware's 158-year-old blue laws presented the state today with a liberalized substitute—which if signed into law—would give local municipalities the power to enact their own statutes regulating Sabbath activities. The measure, passed by both houses of the Delaware general assembly at Dover last night, was the signature of Governor George W. Bacon before it becomes effective. Governor Bacon said today he probably would not see the bill until he goes to Dover Monday. Passage of the repealer brought word from Attorney General James R. Morford that his campaign to enforce the ancient Sunday laws was ended and that all cases of violations now pending in state courts would be dismissed. The new proposal directs the governing bodies of the state's incorporated cities and towns to make their own laws regulating observance of Sunday. While giving incorporated areas the opportunity of enacting Sunday laws, the repeal placed a ban on horse racing, public auctions, theatricals, dances and motion pictures within these communities before 12 o'clock noon and between 6 and 8 p. m.

Newspapers in Berlin Comment Sharply on Roosevelt Attitude After Circulating Story From Budapest He Had Tried To Influence Yugoslavia

DENIED IN CAPITAL

By the Associated Press
Berlin, March 8.—(P)—The German press commented sharply today on President Roosevelt's foreign policy after circulating a story from Budapest that he had tried to keep Yugoslavia away from the Axis. (State department officials at Washington said they "never heard of it" when asked yesterday about a Berlin report that Britain was seeking United States diplomatic aid in dealing with Yugoslavia.) In a lead article today the Evening National Zeitung asked if America would appreciate it if Germany sent special envoys all over Central America as Roosevelt does over Europe. The Zeitung said these travelers are "proof of a continued attempt on the part of Washington to influence Germany's neighbors." The authoritative German commentary, Dienst Aus Deutschland, predicted that Roosevelt's foreign policy would be examined by the German press as a whole. The commentary, which often reflects German foreign office opinion, added that this would be "the first time the German press has directly taken up discussion of Rooseveltian politics and his attitude toward the European situation." The comment grew out of the Yugoslav story, printed in the Budapest newspaper Magyar Szav and distributed from there by the German radio and DNB, German official news agency. Declaring that "despite the American efforts felt here, with all certainty the consolidation of the 'new order' will continue in Europe," Dienst Aus Deutschland said the alleged "Roosevelt Demarche" to Yugoslavia "is directly opposed to the principles of the Monroe Doctrine as well as Roosevelt's own promise to the voters to keep America away from war."

DEATH IN PRISON RECALLS COAST BLAST IN 1910

San Quentin, Calif., March 8.—(P)—James B. McNamara, convicted of the 1910 dynamiting of the Los Angeles Times building, in which 21 persons were killed, died in prison today. McNamara, serving a life sentence, was 59. The explosion and fire at the Times, which had been campaigning against closed shops, came at 1:07 a. m. on October 1, 1910. Printers, editorial workers and pressmen were at their jobs. The dynamite was attributed to retaliation for the paper's statements on labor's aims. James McNamara and his brother, John, arrested in the east, pleaded innocent after obtaining the late Clarence Darow to defend them, but on December 1 both pleaded guilty—James B. McNamara to the death of Chas. J. Haggerty, a machinist at the Times, and John McNamara to the dynamiting of the Los Angeles Iron Works in Los Angeles on Christmas Day, 1910. James B. McNamara was sentenced to a life term, John to 15 years. Several efforts were made to obtain clemency. (Turn to Page Nine)

7-DAY WEEK VOTED BY MIDVALE EMPLOYEES

Philadelphia, March 8.—(P)—Employees of the Midvale Steel Company's plant here have voted to work a seven-day, 56-hour week in the interest of the national defense emergency, union leaders reported today. Edward Kunz, secretary of Federal Labor Union, No. 18,887 (AFL), said the approximately 4,600 plant employees had voted "two to one" for the seven day work week. He described the vote as the first of its kind conducted by any union in any manufacturing plant in the nation. As a result of the vote taken yesterday, he said, employees will work 56 hours a week, instead of 48, on the completion of a $32,000,000 order for anti-aircraft guns and other defense equipment for the U. S. army and navy. The company is a subsidiary of the Baldwin Locomotive Works.

Bad Weather Brings Another Disappointing Weekend for the Boys at Indiantown Gap

BY RICE YAHNER
Associated Press Correspondent
Indiantown Gap, March 8.—(P)—Soldiers' hopes for "pay-day" this weekend lay buried under a heavy snow here today. After a week of clear, comparatively warm days, the 13,000 men of the 28th Division and 104th cavalry had looked forward to a pleasant Saturday afternoon and Sunday, on leave, or entertaining visitors. But like last weekend, snow blew in over Blue Mountain. The disappointment was not so great last week because the soldiers had little money. Payday had been delayed by the disorganization of the auditing system with the move from home

PROPOSED CHANGES DEFEATED

After Powerful Administration Forces Knock Down Twelve Suggested Amendments During Day And Night Sessions Leaders Declare Measure On "Straight Road to Passage" by Evening by a Vote of at Least Two to One

MAY REACH DESK OF PRESIDENT MONDAY

BY WILLIAM B. ARDERY
Washington, March 8.—(P)—Senator Wheeler (D-Mont.), a leading foe of the British aid bill, conceded today that the senate would approve that legislation, adding that "the fight against war has just begun." Wheeler declared that he would "fight harder than ever" after the measure's passage to keep the United States out of war. "This bill," Wheeler said, "gives the president power to wage an undeclared war anywhere in the world. I will fight against that everywhere as long as I am able." Wheeler made his declaration while the senate considered an amendment by Senator Walsh (D-Mass.) to forbid the transfer of naval vessels or aircraft which could not be replaced by better equipment within three months. Walsh argued that if the British aid bill were approved in its present form, congress would be telling the president he could "loan or sell or give away" the American navy "as you see fit." Responding, Chairman George (D-Ga.) of the senate foreign relations committee declared that "this amendment entirely scuttles the bill." "Essentially, Britain needs naval help. If she does not get it when she needs it, the bill is no good at all." Democratic Leader Barkley asked the senate whether "we are willing to make this bill an army relief bill only." Barkley declared earlier that senate opponents of the aid legislation were "cooperating to obtain a final vote today." He predicted that the momentous legislation could be passed President Roosevelt's desk by Monday. Saying he was "entirely satisfied" with the administration's consistent victories on the aid legislation yesterday, Barkley expressed to reporters the belief that the House would accept all Senate amendments. GALA FUN MUSICAL PROGRAM
AT COLUMBIA THEATRE
TODAY AND SUNDAY

"Let's Make Music"
America's ace maestro of swing rhythm, Bob Crosby, and his famous Duxeland Band, debut in "Let's Make Music," scintillating new musical comedy from RKO Radio, the same studio that recently offered Kay Kyser in "You'll Find Out."

Like Kyser, Bob Crosby also plays the role of himself, leading his orchestra the Bobcats and The Bobolinks through a brightly romantic comedy in which a small town spinster teacher becomes the toast of New York night clubs and her pretty niece becomes the band leader's No. 1 heart interest.

Jean Rogers as the girl, Elisabeth Ralston as the elderly adventurer in Manhattan, and Joseph Buloff and Joyce Compton are featured in leading roles.

SORDID PROGRAM BANNED!

Those Louisiana officials who halted plans to have four men condemned to die on the gallows broadcast statements over the radio just before their execution at noon Friday should be given credit for using common-sense judgment.

Just who was responsible for calling a halt on the morbid broadcast may be a matter of question but it appears from dispatches that Attorney General Eugene Stanley in Baton Rouge advised Sheriff G. E. Erskine, at Columbia, that it would have been a violation of the law to let the prisoners talk over the air, upon which District Attorney C. G. Minard promptly banned the proposal.

Radio manuscripts running from 80 to 500 words had been prepared by the four men who were scheduled to go on the air at eleven o'clock. Microphones had been placed in their death row cells by the Monroe, La., station, in which the prisoners, it was revealed in statements read by an announcer, emphasized that "crime does not pay."

Executions are sordid affairs. The fact that homicides continue to increase in this country each year in spite of the number of felons who are put to death is proof that no good could be expected to result from the attempt in Louisiana to make the hanging of four murderers a feature attraction for radio listeners!

LESSON FOR MOTORISTS

A lesson to all motorists may be found in the evidence produced at an inquest last evening in the accident at the Scott overhead near Irvine December 30th, which resulted in the deaths of two occupants of one of the cars involved.

It developed that both automobiles figuring in the crash had been moved before an official investigation was launched, and as a result the first officer on the scene had to rely upon hearsay evidence in fixing the positions of the two machines after the fatal collision.

Conflicting testimony of the witnesses left the jury without definite information upon which to place responsibility. Had the cars been left in the highway where they came together until the State Motor Police arrived a much clearer picture of the unfortunate affair would now be available.

The moral: If your car figures in a serious accident it is best for all concerned, after any injured are removed, to have an inspection of the scene made by an officer before the wreck is cleared away.

The Weatherman can't please everyone all the time. Right now the happiest people are the skiers!

WEEKLY SERMONETTE

A CALL TO RIGHTEOUSNESS AND TRANQUILITY

REV. IVAN E. ROSSELL
Methodist Church, Sheffield

Daniel 1:27—Break off thy sins by righteousness, and thine iniquities by showing mercy to the poor; if it may be a lengthening of thy tranquility.

This might easily be a message to the American people. Sins? Surely. It is a word we have tried to drop from our vocabulary, but it has a meaning that no other word can supply. Surely not the word mistakes. What are some of America's sins? Pride is one, pride in our size, in our wealth, in our resources, in the growth of our industries, in our education and intelligence. That pride will be our undoing. Self-sufficiency is another. We feel that we have no need of anything, are a match for the world, can tell the rest of the world where "to get off." Indulgence or intemperance is another. Not alone in intoxicants, but in the use of rapacious tobacco and cigarettes, and in pleasures as well as in eating. We cater to our desires and appetites without any regard to our own health or the needs of the world about us. The list might be extended but this is enough to make us think.

We need to show mercy to the poor, not alone in our own lands but all over the world. "Who is my neighbor?" was asked of the Master a long while ago and the answer is always the man we call our enemy, the man we refuse to deal with, be Jew or Jew, or black, communist or fascist. We are potentially at peace with the rest of the world; but our remaining so may depend upon our spirit of kindness to others, our generosity. Read again in Daniel 1:27 and Luke 10.

PRAYER: O God, we Thy servants desire of Thy Fatherly goodness that Thou forgive our sins and shortcomings. Help us to see that our very confidence in ourselves is a misapprehension. We beg before Thee in humility, do Thou give us hearts of compassion that we may have to needs in need that which will cause them to give thanks to Thee, and may we as a nation be possessed of Thee in peace. Amen.

And when ye stand praying, forgive, if ye have ought against any; that your Father also which is in heaven may forgive your trespasses. —Mark 11:25.

Congressman Patrick's Advice to New Congressmen

Washington, March 8—Is a new congressman a congressman? Luther Patrick, 47, congressman from Birmingham, Ala., since 1936 and in his own words a "World War veteran, teacher, writer, lawyer and radio commentator," took time out on the floor of the House of Representatives the other day for a 30-minute oration, at that question. As a piece of oratory, it may never grace the fifth reader or the copy books, but as a piece of exposition on the kind of hazing a new congressman goes through, it is illuminating material for the folks back home who vote to send these people to Washington.

Congressman Patrick was very fair about the whole thing. Ten days before he delivered his speech, he warned the House he was going to make it and what the subject would be. "I do not particularly encourage attendance of anybody who has been here over two years," he said. "There is no way to force the new congressmen to attend. They may or may not come. But they are welcome like this is unusual, and the gentleman from Alabama should go far. And he wasn't giving relief or advice, he said—just comfort and company, for the problems that beset the new congressman are the same ones that beset the old."

Congressman Patrick was frank enough to admit that everything he had to say was based on his own mistakes. The first thing he learned was that no member of the lower House gets into an elevator ahead of a senator. Mastering that, he went on to bigger and better things and by swallowing the bitter pills of sad experience he absorbed enough vitamin D to complete his list of Do's and Don'ts. Rule one is to avoid being original. No matter what a congressman has to say it's safer to attribute it to someone else. "Quote, blickety, blickety bluck, Unquote." There is no congressional rule prohibiting a new congressman from speaking if he has something to say. Rule 2 is to be sure they're not mistaken about having something to say. A congressman is usually beaten on something he has said. Rule 3 is to avoid making promises back home. Tell young ladies at home you'll introduce them to Mrs. Roosevelt, and she's sure to be out of town when the new folks arrive and ask you to make good. If there is personal experience behind Patrick's Rule 4, he won't admit it, but the rule is: Don't send Speaker Rayburn a comb for Christmas. (P. S.—He's bald.) As for Rule 5—Don't try to beat the senator with a telegram relaying news about the letting of a government contract in the home district. That's the senator's privilege, and furthermore, the best way for a new congressman to communicate with a government department is by telephone. A good many congressmen go through the terms without seeing the inside of the Congressional Library, but Patrick's next point is to keep up on general reading. Rule 7—Family ties are just as important in Washington as elsewhere, and the homeliest girl often makes the best secretary. Enough said, but there's a corollary to that: No congressman is ever greater than his secretary. A congressman has to watch his beauty, too, and Rule 8 is never to let the features relax or droop. Sure as he does, a photographer will pop up from a paw paw bush or a sofa and catch him at his worst. Next is to avoid prophesying the outcome of the war. Rule 10—"Let not your heart be troubled when those who oppose you say, 'He's been in Congress x years, and what has he done?'" (Turn to Page Ten)

Interesting Items Taken From the Warren Evening Times

In 1921
Tax Collector Cousins stated today that he does not know whether the ladies will be assessed for personal taxes, the same as men, or not. Last year there were 3,800 women assessed and nearly all of them were only 30 or 40 cents. If the collector is forced to get the same amount from the women, as paid by the men, even his worst enemy would not envy him the job.

A delegation from Sugar Grove met with the county commissioners yesterday and asked that a stretch of road 1.6 miles in length, running from that borough to the New York state line, be improved this year. As there are two other township roads listed for consideration, it is probable that this road will not be built for at least two years.

With the temperature higher than any day yet, spring fever struck the people of Warren today in epidemic form. Doors and windows were swung open and persons were seen minus outer wraps.

Captain R. N. Summerton is daily receiving applications for membership in Company I but as the company is over recruited, he is unable to make any more enlistments.

Secretary A. F. Kottcamp, of the local Y. M. C. A., left today for Lewistown, to attend a convention of the organization.

In 1931
The Volunteers of America has been given permission to hold their annual Young People's "Heart Tag Day" in Warren on Saturday. The affair will be sponsored by the following well known people: Dr. L. E. Chapman, Dr. Charles T. Greer, Mrs. Jerome Smith, Mrs. Edward Lindsey, Mrs. Rose Messner and Superintendent of Schools P. W. M. Pressel.

"Warren county has made the greatest record of any county in this commonwealth in the past ten years in the professional growth of its teachers," said Henry Klonowicz, of the department of public instruction, at the 28th annual convention of school directors, held at the court house today.

P. J. Stevenson, electrical engineer of the Associated Gas and Electric System, will talk on "Development of Power and the Power Industry" at the meeting of the Kiwanis Club Wednesday.

Mrs. T. M. Greenlund presided yesterday afternoon at the regular meeting of the Literature Department of the Woman's Club, in the absence of the chairman, Mrs. James E. Hazeltine.

A Washington Daybook

By JACK STINNETT
WASHINGTON—"It's beginning to look like I got a hit on my hands," said ample Irving Becker.

The remark doesn't mean much until you know that Irving Becker is the manager of the road company of "Tobacco Road" and that he made it after his books showed that after seven years, "Tobacco Road" still is Washington's most popular play.

It is one more strange phenomenon in the strangest odyssey of all American plays. The figures show that "Tobacco Road" has played Washington six times for one week, once for two weeks, doing a thriving business every time, but when it came back in 1941, it had to put in four extra performances and chairs in the aisles for every one. At $1.50 top price its gross receipts for the week were almost $20,000—a gross which would assure substantial profits to almost any $3.80 or $4.40 show on Broadway.

What's Back Of It?
WHAT interested me was not "Tobacco Road" (I saw it a couple of times years ago when I was a youngster) but the national capital's reaction to it. Why, in the midst of a national defense campaign which seems to absorb every waking hour of almost every one here—even those who have nothing whatever to do with it—should Washingtonians respond like that to a play about decadent southern tenant farmers?

In the belief that this might interest you too, I put the "Why" to Becker: to Edmund Flohn, manager of the National Theater, and to a half dozen acquaintances who were part of the mob that turned out for the show and who, I believe, were a pretty fair cross section of the audiences.

No one, it seems to me, gave the whole answer. Becker attributed it in great part to John Warner, This 64-year-old veteran of the American stage and the music halls of England came out of retirement four years ago to take over the road-show role of Jeeter Lester. This is his fourth appearance in Washington.

He 'Curses' Cute
"John has made 'Tobacco Road' a woman's play as well as a man's. The ladies say he 'curses' cute," says Becker.

There's some truth in that. Barton sees Jeeter as a pathetic character. He plays him that way, and the pathetic heights, rather than detracts from, the humor. The farther Barton takes Jeeter from the appalling filth of body and soul, the more comical he becomes—and the more nearly "Tobacco Road" approaches a hilarious comedy with an underlying, warm pathos. Thus, people who have seen Barton's Jeeter before recommend him to others, not as a shocking example of how low life can sink, but as the best of company for an evening in the theater.

Sign Of The Times
AS for the persons who saw the play, they put these factors together. No matter how the play started out, these Washingtonians to whom I talked now consider it laughs-and-tears and a welcome diversion from the daily round of work, war and politics, or hope will be good entertainment. Still I'd like to see Katharine Cornell or native-born Helen Hayes (who is, incidentally, Washington's most popular actress) come to town in any play which had played here eight weeks in seven years. The comparison might help explain why "Tobacco Road" is Washington's favorite play.

Around New York

By GEORGE TUCKER

NEW YORK—One of the most amusing scenes of any comedy on Broadway takes place in the first act of "Claudia" with Donald Cook, Frances Starr, and Dorothy McGuire participating. This is a comedy of young marriage and Dorothy McGuire (the bride) announces suddenly that the bank has made a mistake of $102 in her account and she intends to write them a letter about it at once.

"Don't be silly," her husband (Cook) tells her. "Banks don't make mistakes. If they made the mistake of one penny they'd stay up all night."

"Then you admit they do make mistakes?"

"Nothing of the sort, they don't make mistakes."

"Why don't they?"

"Because," Don replies, "they use adding machines."

"What's that got to do with it?" cries Dorothy. "Julia uses a washing machine and look what happened to your shirts last week."

"Just say 'Gentlemen!'"

"Or just 'my dear,'" wisecracks her husband. Whereupon he rises and goes through her account book and points out where she has neglected to enter a check for the missing amount.

THIS comedy is one of three new plays all dealing with young married life. It points, perhaps, a trend away from the heaviness of war-infected ideologies that have infected most playwrights in recent seasons. It is light, simple, and its whole structure is based on charm. For this observer's money it is the nicest evening in the theater in all New York.

THE Eaves costume shop, in 46th street, which costumes a majority of New York's plays, advertises "two million buttons" and an exhaustive library of costumes, ranging through the centuries.

We called on them this morning and Mr. T. Lanzilli, the manager, took us through the establishment. He showed us costumes dating back to the 18th century. You can dress as a rabble poet of the Paris gutters of 1803 or as a Neapolitan dandy of 1743 or as one of Teddy Roosevelt's rough riders simply by stating a preference. No costume, he assured us, is too remote to hope for.

He showed us the early Dutch rags worn by Walter Huston in "Knickerbocker Holiday." There were the bleak, New England frocks worn by Ruth Gordon in "Ethan Frome." He had the silly, picturesque costumes of "White Horse Inn," and the bright shining armor that Katharine Cornell had for "St. Joan."

It's an eye-opening display.

South Side Couple To Observe Golden Wedding March 12th

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Johnson, 212 Onondaga avenue, extend to all their friends an informal invitation to participate in an open house at their home next Wednesday, March 12, the occasion of their golden wedding anniversary. The hours are from two until five in the afternoon and from seven until nine in the evening.

Their only daughter, Mrs. Herbert Weston of Silver Spring, Md., is expected today to spend a week at home and to help in the celebration.

Their two sons, Arthur E. Johnson, of 510 East street, and Freeman A. Johnson, 216 Onondaga avenue, with their families, will be at home also. The couple have five grandchildren, most of whom are expected.

The Johnsons, both natives of Denmark, have been lifelong members of the Evangelical church and were wed by Rev. J. A. Curry, pastor of First church here. The ceremony was read in their own newly furnished home on West Fifth avenue, witnessed by relatives and followed by a wedding dinner.

For a period of about 15 years after their marriage, Mr. Johnson was in partnership with Chauncey S. Homer in the Warren Table Works, located on Lexington avenue at the foot of Parker street. Later, he was widely known as an efficient janitor at the old city building, serving there for 27 years and resigning because of poor health since the new municipal building was opened for use.

In their church affiliation, both have been very active. Mr. Johnson as steward, trustee and treasurer, giving up this last named duty a few years ago. Mrs. Johnson, member of the Missionary Society, Ladies Aid and Gleaners Bible Class, teaches a class of junior girls, the Willing Workers.

Living 45 years in their present home, they have acquired citizenship and are proud to be Americans. Mr. Johnson was 83 years of age on December 28 and his wife was 73 on January 16.

My Dear, How You've Changed!

Because Virginia Katherine McMath of Independence, Mo., (at left) won a Charleston contest in Texas, Hollywood has the versatile star known as Ginger Rogers. Same girl, of course. Ginger got a vaudeville contract, a run of 45 weeks on the stage in "Girl Crazy," and moved to Hollywood. She cashed in as Fred Astaire's dancing partner, then went on to prove (via "Bachelor Mother" and "Kitty Foyle") that she was an actress, too. Ginger is a "brownette," sometimes light and sometimes dark, and still on the sunny side of 30.

Versatile Winner of Coveted Oscar Here In Morley Story Which Brought the Award

In "Kitty Foyle" coming to the Library Theatre on Sunday, Monday and Tuesday, Warren theatre-goers will see the second Academy award winner, Ginger Rogers, the first having been James Stewart and the picture which brought him the title, "The Philadelphia Story," shown last weekend.

It is not without reason that Ginger Rogers is rated the most versatile star on the screen today and perfectly understandable that her work in "Kitty Foyle" should earn her the treasured Oscar awarded a week ago by the Academy of Motion Picture Arts and Sciences.

Ginger can do, and has done, anything of a histrionic nature. She did flappers and meanies and gold diggers in her early days, then soared to the heights as the leading feminine dancer on the screen—a distinction no one has yet successfully challenged—in her picture with Fred Astaire. Then she started out to prove that she was an actress as well and has done just that.

Sam Wood, who directed RKO's "Kitty Foyle," says if ever the fictional character of a popular best seller could be considered a natural for a screen star, the case of Christopher Morley's heroine as a vehicle for Ginger Rogers is a perfect example.

Morley's sensationally-acclaimed novel sold over 250,000 copies before the screen rights were acquired; sales totals since have been equalled only by "Gone With the Wind."

Covering, as it does, the period from 1929 to the present, "Kitty Foyle" pictures many familiar Philadelphia settings as the background for its realistic scenes—William Penn looking down on the city, Independence Hall, the Bellevue-Stratford, the Frankford House, the Delaware river and other Quaker City locations.

In addition, the task of filming involved twenty costume changes, picture with Fred Astaire. Then progressively covering the changing styles in women's clothes from 1929 to today, all created by Renie.

D.A.C. Members Hear of General Assembly When Mrs. L. L. Hunter Will Be Honored

Kanagoa Chapter, National Society, Daughters of the American Colonists, with their guests, enjoyed a one o'clock luncheon in the private dining room of the Y. W. C. A., activities building on Friday afternoon.

The table was centered with daffodils, iris, tapers and ribbon streamers in the National Society colors, colonial blue and yellow.

Following the salute to the flag, the invocation was given by Mrs. Fred C. Eaton, honorary past regent and former state regent.

The chapter regent, Mrs. Charles F. Sill, welcomed the guests and conducted a short business session. An additional number of alternates for the general assembly were elected: Mrs. W. F. Clinger, Mrs. Fred C. Eaton, Mrs. Elbert Smith, Miss Olive Taylor and Mrs. Robert C. Selden.

Cast Is Announced For March Comedy; Try-outs For April

Several new faces will appear behind the footlights at the Woman's Club next Wednesday evening, when Warren Players gather for their March studio presentation.

Willis Johnston is coaching the three-act comedy, "A Woman's Fool (To Be Clever)" by Dorothy Bennett and Link Hannah. In the cast are Hope Glassman, Jack Palen, Patsy McClure, Jean Harkless, Clara Ullrich, Warren Stone, Mac Kinander, Lester Muthert and Kathleen Simmons.

The stage set will be the work of Robert Schorman, assisted by Bill McClure and Mrs. Schorman heads the committee assembling properties for the production.

Mrs. E. F. Borden will be holding the script and stage lighting will be handled by Brackett Ayers.

Mrs. Borden, who is going to coach the April studio play, held preliminary try-outs last evening at the Woman's Club and will repeat at seven o'clock Monday evening at her home on Brook street.

Chosen for presentation at that time is Frank Vosper's "Love From a Stranger," which calls for four male and four female roles.

These are classified as follows: Auntie Lulu, a middle-aged woman, Mavis Wilson and Cecily Harrington, between 25 and 30 years of age; Bruce Lovell and Nigel Lawrence, about 35; an old gardener, Hodgson; Ethel, the country type of maid; Dr. Gribble, a physician, who is between 45 and 50.

Copies of the play may be seen at the Warren Public Library and all members interested are urged to be present for try-outs Monday night.

PUBLIC LIBRARY NOTES

The public library is now taking advantage of a pre-publication service of the Outstanding Books of the current month. These books are received and made ready to be circulated the day of the publishers' release. An attractive little pamphlet, "Outstanding Books," giving a resume of each book may be secured at the circulation desk.

March's selection includes some books of real importance. Very much in line with present discussion on the Lend-Lease Bill is Herman Raushning's new book, "This German Writer, who was at one time in such close contact with Hitler, is doing much of his writing these days in the air raid shelters of London. The Redemption of Democracy is a sequel to "The Revolution of Nihilism" and "The Voice of Destruction" which so widely stirred people to a more realistic appraisal of the present situation. His contention is that England and America must pool their resources and revitalize democracy if the world's future is to be made secure.

After a silence of several months, word has been received from Roger Martin du Gard, awarded the Nobel Prize in 1937 for "the artistic power with which he has portrayed human conflicts and the foundations of human life." With his wife he escaped from his home in Norway at the time of the German invasion. Although his home, books and papers were all destroyed, his translator escaped with the final section of the English manuscripts on one of the last boats from France to England. "Summer, 1914" is tremendous in scope, brilliantly wrought and of universal importance.

A glance over the titles on this month's list, makes one wish for more reading time. There are "Hudson Valley Squire" by C. Blackburn Miller; "Whittling Boy" by Roger Burlingame; "How America Lives" by J. C. Furnas and Associate; "Behind God's Back" by Negley Farson; and "Cheerfulness Breaks In," Angela Thirkell's latest collection. There is Nathan Schachner's "By the Dim Lamps" for those who enjoy romantic historical novels John P. Marquard has given us a sympathetic study of a "stuffed shirt" in "H. M. Pugh Esquire" which reminds us of his Pulitzer Prize winner, "The Late George Apley." And Booth Tarkington has come back again with another appealing novel, "The Heritage of Hatcher Ide."

New books in the general collection to be released for circulation on Saturday morning are "The Proud and the Meek" by Jules Verne; "Is the Kingdom of God Realism?" by E. Stanley Jones; "Vitamins" by Henry Borsook; "Ex-

An Appeal to Church Workers Who Prepare Notices for Publication

Attention of church workers who prepare notices for this page is called to the fact that, while no restrictions are placed on the length of such announcements, it will be necessary to do so if the practice of writing them too lengthy is not halted. It has been the policy of the Times-Mirror to print church items as submitted, without editing or deleting, but in recent weeks some of the notices have been far too long, until they are taxing the facilities of the composing room. If notices are confined to church schedules for Sunday and the week along with common topics and any other brief reminders, they should not run over two or three inches. The co-operation of all church officials and Sunday school workers is solicited, to the end that it will not be necessary to arrange forms or edit notices in the future.

STORIES IN STAMPS

Stamps Pay Relief Bills In German-Ruled Nations

ALTHOUGH direct American aid to peoples of Nazi-conquered territories is restricted by the British blockade, American money will help pay relief bills through stamps. Many of the countries now under Hitler's rule have issued winter relief semi-postals, which eventually will find a way into U. S. albums. Belgium chose the coats-of-arms of four principal cities for designs of the winter-help series. The Bruges stamp above, also shows Bruges' landscape for which the city is famous in the background. The Netherlands returned the same issue for children with a series picturing a girl kneeling before a tulip plant. France's Vichy government released a series of four national relief semi-postals with a rural theme. Grain planting and harvest, grape harvest and a herd of dairy cattle are pictured. France has also issued a stamp for war victims. Poland's four General Government stamps picture a man in a fur cap, Norway honors Fridtjof Nansen in a set of four national relief issues. Germany's own annual Winter-help series included famous buildings in a set of nine.

King Charles II enjoyed picnics in the Channel Islands in 1646, when he was but a boy. Hammerfest, Norway, is the northernmost city in the world.

YOUR REASON?

Some go to church to take a walk, Some go there to laugh and talk, While others go to doze and nod, But wise men go to be with God.

Some go to church old friends to greet, And some to speak to all they meet, While others go their girls to bring, But wise men go the hymns to sing.

Some go to church a fault to hide, Some go there just to be inside, While others go their time to spend, But wise men go to prayer to send.

Some go to church to hear good times, Some go there just to have good times, While others go their clothes to show, But wise men go their God to know.

merchantsmen totalling 61,400 tons in attacks on convoys.

The daily war bulletin said the submarine accounted for five vessels, totalling 33,000 tons, while the Japanese navy attacked six convoys along the English southeast coast, including two tankers, all totalling 28,400 tons, along with the destroyers.

In addition, the communiqué said the air force sank a merchantman of approximately 1,200 tons in armed reconnaissance over the North Sea and "badly damaged" three additional vessels.

In air raids on Britain, the High Command said: "Several direct hits were scored on buildings during an audacious attack from a low altitude on an important armament plant near Newark."

(Newark is in the Midlands, near Nottingham.)

Another armament plant near Bristol suffered from hits on the communiqué said.

Individual Nazi combat planes were said to have directed raids against airports in southern and central England yesterday, inflicting "heavy destruction" on hangars and shelters.

Coroner's Jury Declines To Place Any Blame

when picked up by the tow trucks, but it was stated by those involved in the crash that the Mealey car was tipped over on its left side following the impact and headed back toward Warren, in the opposite direction from that which it had been traveling at the time of the crash.

Marlin Anderson, of Jackson Run Road, R. D. 2, who was severely injured in the accident and who was confined to the hospital for more than a month, testified that the party of men, all of whom were employed at the National Forge and Ordnance Company at Irvine, left for work shortly after six o'clock on the morning of the crash and stated that the accident must have occurred between 6:35 and 6:45 o'clock.

He stated that Dura Mealey was driving and Cecil Mealey was also in the front seat. Anderson was on the left side of the back seat, with Harry Brown in the middle and Floyd Gray on the right. It was snowing very hard, he said, and the roads were quite slippery.

When the Mealey car rounded the turn at the top of the overhead crossing, it went into a skid, righted itself and then skidded again, just before the crash.

Harry Brown gave practically the same testimony except that he recalled crawling out of the car through the windshield and stated that Dura Mealey was pinned beneath the front end of the car by his legs and that Cecil Mealey was also trapped when the car overturned. He stated that he believed Mealey was driving about seven or eight miles an hour when he rounded the turn.

The testimony of John A. Dolan and his passenger, Robert P. Christensen, of Columbus, Pa., was contradictory to that given by the survivors of the other car, including Dura Mealey, the driver, who stated that the Ford was in its second skid at the time of the impact but on its own side of the road. Dolan and Christensen maintained that they saw the Mealey car swing wide at the top of the incline, go into a skid, right itself and then skid once more, bearing the road and going to the left side of the road. Dolan said he immediately pulled his coupe off on the berm as far as it would go and came to a stop and that his car was not going forward when the Mealey car skidded into the front of it, striking with the Ford's left rear. Neither Dolan nor Christensen was injured and aided motorists who arrived on the scene shortly after in taking the injured men from the other car.

Dolan testified that when he got out of his car, the Mealey machine was on its left side, partially on and partially off the highway, nearly against the north guard rail and that his own car was nearly against the south guard rail.

Private N. E. Johns, of the State Motor Police, who was summoned to the scene an hour and a half after the crash occurred, stated that both cars had been removed when he arrived and that traffic had obliterated any marks on the highway, but that he had taken measurements from the information of the garagemen and from the drivers.

Dr. William M. Cashman testified to the injuries which resulted in the death of Cecil Mealey, stating that his skull was so severely crushed that there was never any hope for his recovery.

The first postal service in America was inaugurated on May 1, 1693, between Portsmouth, N. H., and Philadelphia.

Old Law Upheld in Washington County

Prohibits Barmaids

Washington, Pa., March 8.—(AP)—Judge Howard W. Hughes today ruled an act of 1878 prohibits the employment of "any female" in a place where liquor is sold is "still in full force and effect."

Operators of two whiskey-dispensing grills at Charleroi employing barmaids were arrested nearly a year ago on charges of violating the old and little used law of 1878.

David H. Weiner of Washington, their attorney, had asked the grounds the act of '78 was repealed by "implication" by the act of 1933-34, Pennsylvania's present liquor control legislation.

Ruling, however, that the indictments were properly drawn under the act of 1878, Judge Hughes declared:

"The repeal of statutes by implication is not favored" by the courts and legal authorities.

Judge Hughes' decision, unless appealed to a higher court, would result in listing for trial at the May term the charges against Adolph Feldman and Leonard Schwartz, the managers of two Charleroi grills, and two of their employees, Reba Destefano and Helen Kerchensky.
